It's easy to make you embarrassed(尴尬的)in your life. You may run into the wrong classroom and everyone looks at you. Or you may have a piece of cabbage in your teeth!

People in England may feel embarrassed if someone asks them some personal questions, such as: "How old are you?" or "How much money do you make?" They will get unhappy. It is also not polite of you to talk about your own things too much when you meet someone for the first time. You'd better talk about weather. The young people in America will feel embarrassed if they still use their parents' money to buy things, or they have to ask their parents before making a decision because others will laugh at them.

Sometimes we may get embarrassed in public, for example: You find that you don't have enough money when you pay at the supermarket. Don't worry! Just put some things back, then no one will look at you. So, to be honest is the most important. If you forget the name of a person or don't know how to clean the toilet after using it at your friend's home, just ask them about it.

44. Which of the following things makes people feel embarrassed?

- A. Talking about weather.
- B. Having a piece of cabbage in one's teeth.
- C. Putting some things back if you don't have enough money at the supermarket.
- D. Asking how to use some things at your friend's home.

45. What do American young people like to do?

- A. Buy clothes with their own money.
- B. Laugh at each other.
- C. Ask their parents to make a decision.
- D. Ask personal questions.

46. What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. Some unhappy things in your life.
- B. The embarrassing things and the way to solve them.
- C. How to ask questions when people meet for the first time.
- D. To be honest is the most important.

C

People have seen the colorful shared bikes(共享单车)in the city streets around China for several years. People can rent(租用)them with a smartphone app and then park anywhere they choose. To relieve(减少)traffic jams and air pollution, many cities have introduced bike-sharing services. But sometimes, dreams are not so perfect.

It is true that it is convenient for people to go out by shared bike. As shared bikes become more popular, problems showed up. According to news reports, users didn't treat shared bikes well. After people used the bikes, some of them just threw them onto streets. Some people stole the bikes or locked them up. A month ago, the police fined a man in Shanghai 1,000 yuan, because he stole a shared bike.

Besides, the damage to the QR codes (二维码) on the bikes has brought huge losses to bike-sharing companies, like Mobike(摩拜单车). If the QR code is bad, people cannot use the bike anymore. It can take several hundred yuan for the company workers to find a lost bike and repair it. Mobike has 100 credit scores for each user. Once the score drops to below 80, bike rental(租金)will go up five yuan per 30 minutes.

However, punishment may not be the best way to stop shared bikes from being stolen or damaged. Bike-sharing services will work better only if people follow the rules and show respect for the bikes.

47. How can people rent the shared bikes?

- A. By using money. B. By borrowing from friends.
C. With the computer. D. With a smartphone app.

48. According to the passage, many cities have introduced bike-sharing services to _____.

- A. relieve traffic jams B. clean the city streets
C. earn more money D. change our lifestyles

49. We should _____ to make the bike-sharing services better.

- A. lock the bikes up in chains
B. park the shared bikes only at the bus station
C. follow the rules and show our respect for the bikes
D. raise the bike rental to five yuan per 30 minutes

D

From November 1 st to December 10th in 2020, China started its seventh national population census(普查). 7 million census takers have asked each family about their name, gender, age, education, employment and so on. This census is different from the ones in the past. For the first time, citizens were encouraged to use smart phones and other digital tools to record their information.

China has a national population census every 10 years. The first one was done in 1953. At that time, there were about 600 million people in China. But China's population has boomed. It about 1.37 billion in 2010.

For the 2020's national population census, all residents(居民) of China were included in census. But Chinese citizens who had settled(定居) abroad and foreign citizens who were staying in China on either business or tourist visas(签证) were not counted.

"The census is very important for every citizen," said Ning Jizhe, director of the NBS. "It will help improve infrastructure(基础设施建设) and public services. For example, if census results show that there are many children living in a particular area, the government will know that it should build more schools there."

Scientists can also learn more about population growth from the census. In some years, the population grows faster than in others. Even in the same year, population growth is different in different places. Scientists can use the information to find out what causes growth in certain years and places.

阅读下面的短文，用英语回答问题，并将答案写在答题卡标有题号的横线上。

Have you seen koalas(考拉)in a zoo? They are very cute. The koala is a small bear-like, tree-dwelling animal, which averages about 9 kilograms in weight. Its fur is thick and usually grey. They come from Australia. They do not come from any other place. Today koalas are mainly found in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia. People in Australia want to protect them.

Now there are about 100,000 koalas in Australia. But there are fewer and fewer of them all the time. Some koalas are getting sick. The sickness makes them not able to see. It also makes it hard for them to have babies. Besides, Koalas also live in societies, just like humans, so they need to be able to come into contact with other koalas. Because of this, they need to have areas of suitable forest, and the areas are large enough to support a healthy koala population by raising young koalas.

But People are building more houses and roads too. This means koalas do not have as many places to live. Some people want the government to do more to take care of the koalas.

83. How many koalas are there in Australia?
84. Why don't koalas have as many places to live?
85. Should people take good care of animals? Why or why not?
